"Tartarus is mentioned only once in the Bible, in 2 Peter 2:4, where it describes God casting sinning angels into a gloomy abyss, bound in chains of darkness for judgment. While often translated as "hell," it refers specifically to a subterranean prison for fallen angels, distinct from the final destination of human souls, and is depicted as a place of restraint before the final judgment, not eternal torment for people. "

IF PEOPLE ONLY KNEW WHAT HAS BEEN GOING ON UNDER GROUND AND UNDER WATER THEY WOULD BE SHOCKED

The Bible and ancient tribes spoke about giants on a regular bases but around 1920 the subject was HUSHED UP. The Smithsonian went dark about all the giants bones sent to them and mankind forgot about them. The Bible tells us that these giants will be returning at the End of the Ages period we are living in today.

Let's look at the more recent giant pictures that were not Copied, Chopped or Pasted together, or where a picture of a giant could be added or removed from a negative or picture. These giants in this video have an association with the Tuatha De Dannaan in the Bible that were one of the hybrid bloodlines that came from the line of Cain. That line migrated to the British Isles.

From around 1800 - 1920 these giant men and woman were the leaders of business, industry and always dressed as the UPPER CLASS of society. Then it is if they were FASED OUT or for some reason and disappeared from our current history records.

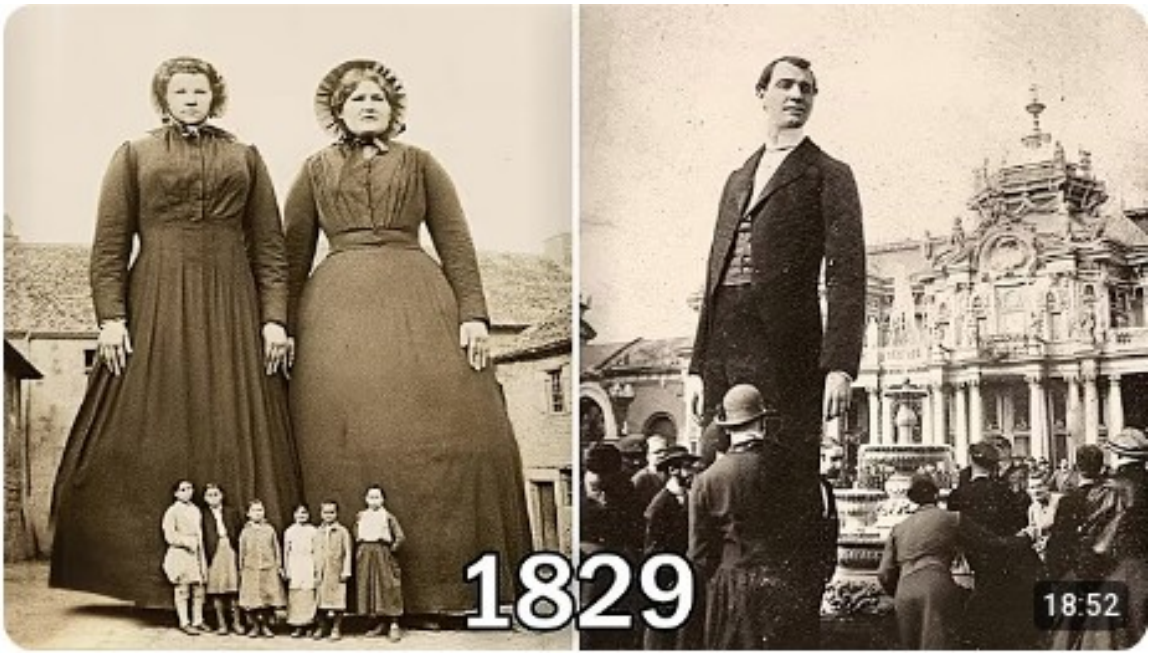
THERE WERE NEWSPAPERS ARTICLES AROUND THE WORLD THAT SPOKE ABOUT THEM

Yet most of us never heard of them nor are their pictures of them common enough that everyone knows about them.



Where did they go. I don't remember going to school with anyone close to that tall or learning about them

Winnsboro, La., Dec. 16—Skeletons o' a race of giants who averaged 12 feet in height, were found today by workmen engaged upon a drainage project near Crowville, near here. There are several scores at least of skeletons and they lie in various positions. It is believed they were killed in a prehistoric fight and that the bodies lay where they fell, cov-

A GIANT SKELETON EIGHTEEN FEET TALL

AUSTIN, Tex., June 14.—"If the report that the fossilized skeleton of a giant eighteen feet tall has been found near Seymour, Tex., is true, it is the most important ethnological discovery ever made in the world," remarked Dr. J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology of the University of Texas. "It would break all previous records of giants by nearly ten feet, as the tallest man known to anthropological research was only eight feet inches in height."

The skeleton is in possession of W.

BIGGEST GIANT EVER KNOWN.

Nine Feet High and Probably a Prehistoric California Indian.

MEASUREMENT WELL AUTHENTICATED

Other Big Men and Women of Fact and Fable Who Are Famous Types of Gianthm.

THE corpse of the biggest man that ever lived has been dug up near San Diego, Cal. At all events, there is no satisfactory record in ancient or modern history of any human being nearly so tall. The mummy—for in such a condition the remains were found—is that of a person who must have been about nine feet high in life. This makes allowance for the shrinkage, which may be pretty closely calculated.

As to accuracy in the estimate there can be no question, as the cadaver has been carefully inspected and measured by Prof. Thomas Wilson, Curator of the Department of Prehistoric Anthropology in the Smithsonian Institution, and by other scientists. The tape-line even now registers the length from heel to top of head at eight feet four inches.

The mummy is that of an Indian, and is almost certainly prehistoric, though its age cannot be determined with any sort of accuracy. Historical records of the part of California where it was found go back for at least 250 years, and they make no mention of any man of gigantic stature. How much older the body may be must be left open to conjecture. Its preservation is no matter for surprise. In that arid region the atmospheric conditions are such that a corpse buried in the dry season might very well become perfectly desiccated before the arrival of the rains, and thus be rendered permanently proof against decay.

The body was found in a cave by a party of prospectors. Over the head are the remnants of a leather hood. The man was well advanced in years.

It has been stated that this man must have surpassed in height any giant of whom there is historical record. This is unquestionably true so far as the last two centuries are concerned, and accounts of older dates are not well authenticated. Indeed, they grow more and more apocryphal as distance of time increases.

An Abyssinian giant measured by Tellenard was four and a half inches above eight feet in height. The tallest man of whom there is any authentic record was Winckelmeyer, who was measured by Deuben, and found to be exactly eight and a half feet high. The largest woman that ever lived was Marianne Trinde, a German, who was a wonder of the last century. Not more than four properly recorded for eight-footers have dwelt on the earth in modern times.

The exhibited giant is always more or less of a faker, a number of inches being added to his stature by the showmills. P. T. Barnum in his memoirs says that he never could find a human being that would come up to the eight-foot mark. Chang, the Chinese giant, was advertised as eight feet high. The fact is that he was only about six inches over seven feet. His apparent height was increased by a flowing robe and thick-soled shoes. Yet Chang was probably the tallest man ever on exhibition in this country. Seven feet is a good height for an ordinary show giant.

Great stature under ordinary circumstances may be and occasionally is inherited. The wrestlers of Japan cover head and shoulders above the every-day people of their own race. Forming a caste for themselves, they have been bred for stature for centuries.

The soldiers of King Frederick William's famous regiment of giants at Potsdam mounted the summit of that neighborhood, and, as a consequence, there are a great many very tall people to be found in the vicinity of Potsdam to-day. King Frederick searched the whole of Europe for his big soldiers. They were his pets, but it is probable that they would not have proved very efficient in war the best soldier for fighting or for any other purpose is of moderate size. Frederick reviewed every day his cherished regiment, which numbered 3,000 men. In the front rank was no man less in stature than seven feet. In 1713 the Duke of Brunswick-Lüneburg had a grandman in his armory who, as legend measured eight feet and six inches.

In 1835 Barnum exhibited four giants in New York, all of them alleged to be over eight feet. One of these was Anna Swan, who probably was the largest woman of the century. Joseph Brice, a French giant, exhibited in 1851, measured six and a half inches over seven feet. Possibly with this exception the tallest man in France in 1860 was Charles d'Independ, who was seven feet and a half inch and about in proportion.

William Blarney, known as the Welsh Giant, died of consumption in 1864. He is said to have measured seven feet and a half. Of nearly equal height was Big Sam McDonald, who attracted the attention of the Prince of Wales and was made a lodge porter at Chillon House. He used to dress himself in female clothing and exhibit himself as a giantess. He was emboldened to fight by two soldiers. One of them he swung around his head by an arm, and the other ran away. At Mexico Tom Sayre's tents was exhibited a figure of a Russian named Loschkin, eight feet and five inches high. He was a drum-major in the Imperial Guards. In 1880 died William Bradley, of Yorkshire, who at nineteen years of age was eight inches above seven feet in height. A cast of one of his hands is in possession of the Royal College of Surgeons.

In 1785 the squelette of an alleged Irish giant was dug up near Donnadea in a peat bog. The skeleton measured ten and a half inches over eight feet. Edward Bamford, a gigantic barber of Temple Bar, died in 1798. His height was seven feet and four inches. A statue nearly sixteen inches greater than this was claimed for Patrick Cotter, alias O'Brien, who was born in 1760 at Kinsale, Ireland. His actual height was about seven feet and ten inches only. He was sickly, and displayed the cyclical physical abnormalities of giantism. When he died he directed that his grave should be made secure with iron bars and brickwork to prevent doctors from stealing his body.

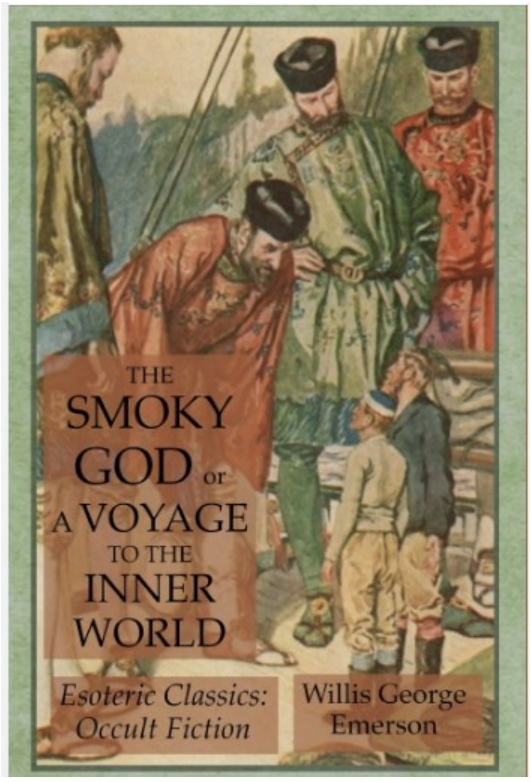
Cotter took the name of O'Brien from another Irish giant of that name, who was born about that date. He was said to be eight feet and four inches high, but in truth he was a trifle more than ten inches over seven feet. His skeleton is now owned by the Royal College of Surgeons. The famous Dr. William Hunter gave $1,500 for his corpse. In 1712 there was at Leuerkerk, in Holland, a Bohemian named Gerrit Bastiaensen, who was eight feet tall and weighed 448 pounds.

The dubious character of giant stories in general is illustrated by certain relics of Guy, Earl of Warwick, established to this day at Warwick Castle. This remarkable nobleman is alleged to have been built in truly heroic mould. The relics comprise his porridge-pot, which holds 120 gallons; his coat-mail, six feet long; his breastplate, sword and other articles. The porridge-pot is in truth a gigantic imitation of the sixteenth century. The fork is not a fork at all, but a military weapon. The armor is of comparatively modern manufacture, and was made for a horse. With the sword the noble Earl is said to have vanquished a certain fearful dun cow six yards long and with fiery eyes. A rib bone of the monster is shown to prove the tale; but it is not the rib of a cow at all. It is the rib of an extinct species of buffalo, known as the urus.

The Old Testament is full of stories of giants. Goliath of Gath, champion of the Philistines, is stated to have been six cubits and a span high, or nine feet and nine inches. A French Academician has figured that Agam was 28 feet high and Eve 18 feet. Noah was 12 feet tall, Abraham 10 feet and Moses 13 feet.

MUMMY OF NINE FOOT GIANT INDIAN, FOUND IN CALIFORNIA.

What the author of this video saying is how odd it is that these giant people appeared on the scene between 1800 - 1920 and then seemed to be fazed out when data about Tartarsus was removed from history and that these giants were merchants of means. They seem to be the overseers of the projects people were working on.. There existence was part of the everyday world and then they disappeared off the every day records. The Smithsonian while claiming they had no giant bones were burying them in the oceans so they would not be dug up or found anymore.



Their are stories of Olaf Jansen who traveled underground in the North Pole region only to discover the giants related to the ancient Israelites.

"The Smoky God, or A Voyage Journey to the Inner World (1908) by Willis George Emerson. The narrator, Olaf Jansen, voyages through a polar opening in 1829 and spends 2 years in a strange underground world, believed to be the original Garden of Eden. This inner Earth is lit by its own sun, and here underground civilization has diverged from the ways of the surface. Here are giants, monsters, omnipotent High Priests, and lost races that speak Sanskrit—a world of wonders, which Olaf will be lucky to survive. Picture of the book cover. "

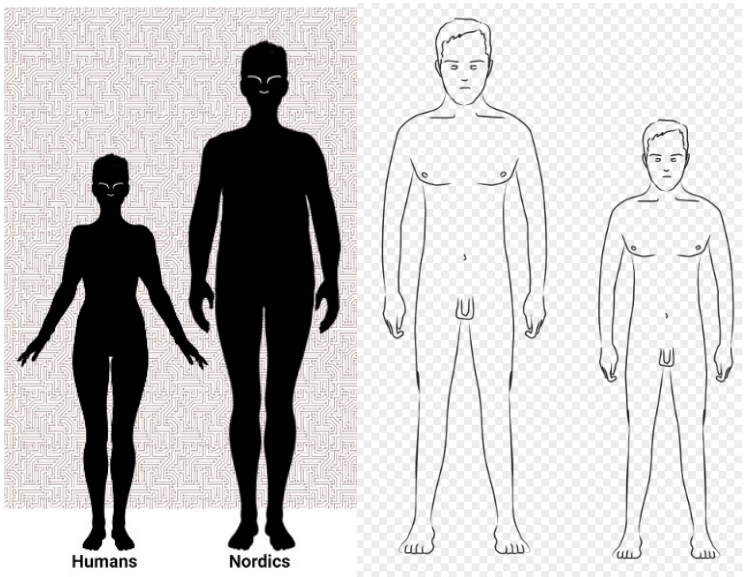
Now what few are left we think of them as basketball players or simply as really tall guys and never ask questions like HOW DID THEY GET TO BE SO TALL. If it isn't gigantism then what is it that crates these giant people? Where did their giant DNA come from? Yet when you go back in history it was the gods (aliens) who created them. The DNA from aliens is the culprit. It happened when aliens bred their DNA with human DNA.



Nordic aliens are known to be taller than human beings. Above are examples of an 8ft tall alien next to a 6ft tall man or woman.

Something to think about guys!
